Grading System – Co-requisite Course Failures in the CVS Program

Effective with the start of the July 2025 term on 7/14/2025, the following information regarding failures in co-requisite courses in the CVS program becomes effective:

For Cardiovascular Sonography (CVS) Students: For all CVS courses that are split into co-requisite theory and laboratory courses (e.g., CVS1101 Vascular Techniques I Theory and CVS1101L Vascular Techniques I Laboratory), students must pass both the theory and the lab course in order to receive a passing grade for both courses. If a student fails either the theory or the lab co-requisite, they will receive a failing grade for both courses and will be required to repeat both the theory and the lab course together in order to achieve a passing grade.
